CLAYPOOL, LANTZ IN BITTER CONTEST

Voters Defeat Rader, Name Radcliff

RALPH MAY, JOHN KELLER PICKED FOR COUNTY BOARD RACE; GRINER WINS IN ENGINEER'S CONTEST

Three Votes Separate Bowers, Montgomery for Coroner; Immell Given 1265 Votes by County; Davey Aided

Circleville and Pickaway-co voters, more than 3,500 strong, today scanned the result of their Tuesday balloting, and wondered what would happen in November.

They did the following in the primary:
Nominated Sheriff Charles Radcliff for his fourth term by a margin of nearly four votes to one over his nearest opponent;

Turned down the bid of Burr H. Rader for another term as commissioner, but chose his running-mate, Ralph E. May, and John Keller, Scioto-twp farmer and a true darkhorse, to represent the Democratic party in November, against Marvin Dreisbach and George Wardell, Republican selections.

Named Harry Griner to succeed Howard Sweetman as engineer, defeating Sweetman's chief deputy, Ralph Wood, and M. C. Chamberlain;

Left the coroner's contest pending until the board of elections completes its official count as a result of giving Dr. C. E. Bowers a three-vote margin over Dr. E. L. Montgomery for coroner, 1557 to 1554;

Backed Robert Immell in his futile effort to win a congressional post;

And added their share of votes to the splendid number given President Roosevelt for re-nomination for another term.

Delay Is Forced

The complicated ballot, with delegates to the national and state conventions requiring much space and time, caused a delay in the tabulation. The result of many contests, especially through the state and district, was not known at noon Wednesday.

The Pickaway-co board, operating with a new efficiency and speed, completed making its precinct report at 6:45 a. m. Wednesday, but still had much work to do in checking the poll books and tallying the results of the state senate, district court of appeals, and committeemen and women elections.

The strength of Sheriff Radcliff and the high esteem in which he is held in the county was proved by his splendid vote. In all, 2,609 persons cast their ballots for him. Frank H. "Timmy" Kline Jr., running in his first fling at politics, was second with 771, while Gilbert Crawford was third with 373 and Howard Irwin was fourth with 152.

The sheriff lost only one precinct, Muhlenberg-twp, Crawford's home. He was far ahead in nearly all others.

He will face Carl Porter, unopposed Republican, in November.

The commissioner contest was nip and tuck from start to finish. In the early balloting, Samuel Kendrick, Monroe-twp, took a lead, but May and Keller gradually overtook him, and finally took a commanding lead. Keller led the commissioner chase until First Ward East A precinct reported, putting May into the lead by two votes. May had 1117 votes and Keller 1115.

Beavers Third

Others in the contest finished in the following manner: William Beavers, 1072; Burr Rader, 836; George Eitel, 802; William H. Cline, 719; Kendrick, 637, and William Curry, 464.

The Republicans nominated a former commissioner when Marvin Dreisbach, Pickaway-twp, led the group with 778 ballots. Edgar Beatty, another ex-commissioner, fell by the wayside tallying only 475. Wardell ran well to gain 578 votes. John Sark and E. E. Dountz scored 288 and 273 votes, respectively.

Griner, former county and city engineer, ran strong in Circleville to gain his margin over Wood and Chamberlain. He finished 218 votes ahead of Wood and nearly 500 in front of Chamberlain, Ashville resident. Since the Republicans had no candidate in the field,

REPORTS OF SENATORIAL CONTEST DELAYED; RENICK RUNNING THIRD

Result of Franklin-Pickaway District Vote May Not Be Learned Until Late Wednesday

Sufficient reports were not available at noon Wednesday for a definite announcement concerning the senatorial race in Pickaway and Franklin-co.

T. A. Renick, Pickaway-co candidate on the Republican ticket, was informed through political circles in Columbus at noon he was third in the race with E. E. Addison, first, and Fred W. Postle, second. Renick received an unofficial vote of 1125 in Pickaway-co while none of the other five candidates received over 200 votes.

W. I. Spangler, Democratic candidate in this county, received an unofficial total of 1573 votes. Three others were in the race. At noon Spangler said he had been unable to receive sufficient information from Columbus to make a statement.

No definite information on the race was expected from the secretary of state's office until late Wednesday afternoon.

Unofficial reports here on the Democratic candidates were: M. R. Andrix 466, Francis P. Howard 748, and George M. Morris 1447. Republican votes unofficially were: Addison 114, L. E. Borror 170, S. E. Forney 41, Guy Martin 141, and Fred W. Postle 189.

For the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor in 1949 precincts, Roosevelt received 206,291 votes; Breckinridge 15,092.

Frazier Reams of Toledo and Herbert S. Duffy of Columbus were in a close race for the Democratic nomination for attorney general. When 2511 precincts had reported, Reams had 44,978, and Duffy 41,594.

For the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor in 1949 precincts, J. Freer Bittiger of Ashland, speaker of the Ohio house, had 30,503 votes, and Senator Paul P. Yoder of Eaton 29,834.

State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy, unopposed for the Republican nomination, was elected.

DAVEY IS GIVEN 70,000 MARGIN OVER OPPONENT

Cuyahoga Provides Stiff Fight for Governor; Taft Leads Borah

PRESIDENT RUNS WELL

Bittinger and Yoder in Tight Race for Lieutenant-Governor

COLUMBUS, May 13.—(UP)—Governor Martin L. Davey, who gained re-nomination on the Democratic ticket in Tuesday's primary, had a head of 70,000 votes on the basis of a more than half completed count of ballots, today.

Except for the stern opposition given by Congressman Stephen M. Young in Cuyahoga-co, Gov. Davey would have piled up a much larger majority.

In 5228 of the state's 8579 precincts, Davey received 181,083 votes; Young 110,303, and Charles Hubbell of Cleveland 15,516.

The "favorite son" slate pledged to Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati held an impressive margin over the candidates of Senator William E. Borah of Idaho in the contest for the Ohio delegates to the Republican national convention.

The Taft candidates held margins ranging upward of 20,000 votes for the eight delegates-at-large places with 200 precincts reported. Early returns from the 22 congressional districts indicated that Borah stood a chance of winning from four to eight of the 44 district delegate votes.

Roosevelt Chosen

President Roosevelt, entered in the Democratic presidential preference contest, was given a large majority over Col. Henry Breckinridge of New York, who had entered the "popularity contest" merely to test anti-new deal strength in Ohio.

In 4,054 of the state's 8579 precincts, Roosevelt received 206,291 votes; Breckinridge 15,092.

Frazier Reams of Toledo and Herbert S. Duffy of Columbus were in a close race for the Democratic nomination for attorney general. When 2511 precincts had reported, Reams had 44,978, and Duffy 41,594.

For the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor in 1949 precincts, J. Freer Bittiger of Ashland, speaker of the Ohio house, had 30,503 votes, and Senator Paul P. Yoder of Eaton 29,834.

State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy, unopposed for the Republican nomination, was elected.

closed committee meeting Wednesday. Councilmen will meet in a day at 8 p. m. to discuss further the proposed purchase of a water plant.

Councilmen have held three closed meetings with representatives of bond firms on the issuance of utility bonds, payable from revenues.

It is understood one of the first steps in such a program would be a city survey.

ROME IS TOLD ITALY TO QUIT NATION LEAGUE

"Had Enough of Geneva," Duce's Paper States

ROME, May 13.—(UP)—Rome today expected a dramatic proclamation by Premier Benito Mussolini that Italy has resigned from the League of Nations.

Il Duce's statement, scheduled to be made before the chamber of Deputies tomorrow, was forecast by Virginia Gayda, editor of the Giornale d'Italia, regarded as Mussolini's mouthpiece.

"Italy has had enough of Geneva," the newspaper said. "The unjust verdict of the League of Nations has been accepted in Italy with discipline but with reserved disdain. The departure of the Italian delegation from Geneva is significant of the resolute detachment of Italy from the league."

Baron Pompeo Aloisi and his co-delegates to the league arrived from Geneva at 5:15 p. m. He refused to comment on his precipitate departure yesterday, beyond saying Il Duce had ordered Italy to cease all participation in league activities.

CIRCUS IN TOWN FOR TWO SHOWS

First Held at 2 and Second Scheduled at 8

Gloomy weather failed to dampen Wednesday when Russell Bros' three-ring motorized show rolled into town for two performances on the Heise lot, E. Franklin-st.

A performance was held at 2 p. m. and another will be held at 8 p. m. The big top will open one hour earlier than the scheduled time for the evening performance for fans to view the menagerie.

The feature attraction of the circus is Rob Russell, all-American football star and western movie actor.

The circus came here from Xenia. The Russell Bros. show has brought a program of merit and comes to Circleville highly recommended.

STORES IN TOWNSHIPS TO DISTRIBUTE FOOD

Regular distribution of surplus commodities by the county relief agency will be made this week through the township stores.

Last week all relief clients obtained goods at the city warehouse. Meat and rolled oats will be distributed this week.

WORK TO RESUME

After a two-day suspension work will be resumed Thursday on all WPA projects. Projects were suspended Tuesday and Wednesday when workers had sufficient time in for the pay period ending Wednesday.

Breadwinner

HARRY TWIFORD, disabled war veteran and proprietor of a Los Angeles garage which "wasn't doing so well," discovered a litter of four pups in the basement of his establishment one day. He kept the mother dog and one puppy, which he named Squeezie. He taught Squeezie tricks, and the dog's ability won him a contract of $55-a-day with the movie studios.

GILLEN VICTOR FOR COURT JOB

Jackson Man Conceded Victory By Judge Whitcraft

Roy J. Gillen of Jackson was believed elected today to a position on the fourth district court of appeals bench to succeed W. H. Middleton of Waverly, who plans to retire as soon as his term is ended.

Gillen, blind representative of the Scioto and Lawrence-co district in the state senate for four terms, is believed to have defeated Judge Harley Whitcraft of Logan by a small margin. Judge Whitcraft, supported by the Pickaway-co Bar association, said he was reasonably sure Gillen had won the nomination.

The Hocking-co barrister carried all the northern counties in the district of 15 but Gillen's margin in Scioto and Lawrence, popular river counties, is believed too great to overcome.

Whitcraft was given 403 in this county. Wilder H. Middleton received 302, William R. White 148, Gillen 101, and Frank Delay 76.

W. J. Jones of McArthur, only Democrat in the field, received a complimentary vote of 1983. He will oppose Gillen in the November election.

FIESINGER IS DEFEATED BY SANDUSKY OPPONENT

SANDUSKY, May 13.—(UP)—Almost complete unofficial returns today showed that Congressman W. L. Fiesinger, Democrat, had been defeated for the 13th district nomination by Henry Hart, chairman of the Sandusky city commission.

Dudley White of Norwalk was nominated by Republicans over Rev. Lewis Hill of Attica, and others.

VETERANS ATTEND RITES

Members of Howard Hall post American Legion will participate in funeral services Thursday at 3 p. m. in the Presbyterian church for Walter Greenlee, 37, who died Tuesday. Rev. E. S. Toomey will officiate. Mr. Greenlee was a veteran of the Rainbow division.

BOTH CLAIMING MARGIN THOUGH VOTE UNCERTAIN

Chillicothe and Lancaster Men Visit Each Other's Counties to Check

TALLY AT SNAIL'S PACE

Two Committee Elections Remain Uncertain as Reports Are Delayed

The race for the Democratic nomination for congress in the 11th Ohio district developed Wednesday, into the most heated test of the primary election. Whether Harold K. Claypool of Chillicothe or Dr. James M. Lantz of Lancaster is the victor was probably not known until the official count has been made.

Both camps, Claypool's in Chillicothe and Lantz's in Lancaster, claim victory. Both candidates are so interested that each has invaded the other's county to check the final tabulations. Claypool is in Lancaster; Lantz was in Chillicothe.

Standing in Senate

Just how the vote stands is uncertain. Claypool's office states the brother of Garrett, former Chillicothe judge, is expected to vote with the Republican ticket. In Franklin-co, Lantz is reported to have won. In Perry-co, Lantz is reported to have won. In Adams-co, Lantz is reported to have won. In Adams-co, Lantz is reported to have won.

Nothing definite has been learned concerning the Republican contest though Tom Wilson of Fairfield-co is reported to have won the result of large votes in Perry and Hocking-co. Dean Hickman, former school man, carried Fairfield-co. It is claimed L. C. Mooney was favored to win the race, and may yet do so since some of the election returns are still out.

Pickaway-co gave Claypool 511 votes against 370 for Lantz. Robert Immell of Yellowwood carried the county with 1,268. Harry Welch was third with 455; Barton Holl had 200, Israel Blauzer 73, D. F. Trow 53.

Ross Aids Claypool

Ross-co came to Claypool's aid handing him a vote of 2,432 against 1,586 for Immell and 672 for Lantz. However, Fairfield-co voted 2,522 for Lantz, only 624 for Claypool and 305 for Immell.

Perry-co votes were not available Wednesday, while Hocking-co gave Barton Holl a splendid 1,987 total. Lantz gained 358 there. Claypool got 397, and Immell 368. Welch, a Hocking-co candidate, had 870 tallies. Perry-co, it is reported, favored Claypool, though the figures were not available to prove the contention.

SON MAY APE DEATH TRADE PLEA

He Hears Stoll Abduct-
Will Go to Prison Admitting Guilt

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 13.—(AP)—Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., sentenced to the possibility of dying on the gallows for the kidnapping of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, agreed to trade a guilty plea for a prison sentence, it was reported today.

United States District Attorney Frank Gardner would not comment on the reports of a trade, but said he expected the 29-year-old male impersonator, who fell to the G-men after a year and a half as a fugitive, would plead guilty. Gardner and G-men surrounded Robinson's arraignment with the greatest secrecy, hoping to ward off crowds of curious, but it was understood in well informed circles that he would be arraigned today before Federal Judge Elwood Hamilton on two indictments, charging violation of the Lindbergh law, returned soon after Mrs. Stoll was released after payment of $50,000 ransom in October, 1934.

Hamilton may sentence Robinson to prison for any term of years or to life on a guilty plea. It was believed that the sentence would be heavy. William H. Mahan, another of the four public enemies rounded up by the G-men in a period of 11 days, plead guilty in Tacoma, Wash., to the kidnapping of George Hunt Weyerhaeuser and was sentenced to 60 years.

Seen As Triumph

Should Robinson plead guilty, it would represent almost as great a triumph in speedy justice as the capture of the four public enemies remaining at large within 10 days. Of the four two—William Mahan and Harry Campbell—already have pleaded guilty, Campbell to the kidnapping of Edward G. Bremer for which he received a life sentence. Alvin Karpis, his alleged accomplice, apparently has elected to stand trial. Gardner, who announced yesterday that he would demand the death penalty, had nothing additional to say on that subject. He anticipated a plea of guilty, but should Robinson plead not guilty, trial probably will be set for the middle of June. If he is brought to trial, Gardner made it clear he would seek to have Robinson committed to death. He believed that Robinson decided to chance death on the gallows, he would lead insanity. Robinson once was confined in an insane asylum for several weeks for observation.

hopefully awaiting the official count to determine the victor. The outcome of the J. E. Ford and Ross Wagstaff contest for Democratic central committeeman will probably depend on the official count since neither could offer complete reports Wednesday on the race. Several boards, have been delayed in their tally so much that no effort has been made to complete checking this contest. The same thing holds true for the contest between Miss Jemima Dunagan, this city, and Josephine Justus of Lancaster for the committeewoman job. The local woman won 1,754 votes in "Pickaway-co" against 915 for her foe. They tied in Ross-co unofficial figures at 1083-all, but nothing definite has been learned from the other three counties, although it is to be expected the Lancaster woman carried her own county with its large Democratic vote.

EARLY MORNING RAIN CAUSES HASTE IN CITY

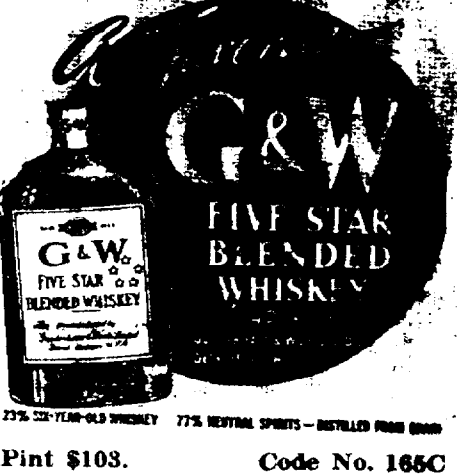

Residents scrambled about their homes Wednesday morning closing windows and doors when .65 of an inch of rainfall accompanied by a high wind and lightning drenched the city.

Dr. H. R. Clarke, weatherman, reported the rainfall Tuesday was .04 of an inch. The highest temperature recording Tuesday was 76 and the lowest during the night, 72.

Farmers welcomed the rain for their crops, especially peas and wheat. They said the ground has been exceptionally dry recently and hard to "work into shape."

FIRE KILLS FOUR IN NIGHT CLUB; TORCH IS CAUSE

Draperies in San Francisco
Bugs, Entertainers are Killed

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13 (UP)—Four persons were killed and 11 injured early today when a flaming torch knocked from the hands of Betty Blossom, torch dancer, set fire to the Shamrock night club.

The dead were:
John Manson, 22, San Francisco; Robert Pattison, Berkeley; Elsie Forrest, 27, wife of the owner of the Redwood Inn, near Petaluma, and Jo Dickerson, hat check girl at the night club. According to police reports, the fire started when an unidentified patron seized the arm of Miss Blossom as she started her torch dance. To avoid his advances, she threw her arm upward and a blazing torch she carried ignited flimsy draperies of the ceiling of the club.

Bushed to Street
Burning fragments set fire to her dress and she rushed, a mass of flames, down a narrow stairway to the street, and fell screaming on the sidewalk. Passersby, slapped out the blazing costume and administered first aid. She was not severely burned.

She struggled desperately to return to the blazing night club, screaming:
"Let me back up there. There are other girls trapped there."

Fire Chief Charles Brennan happened to be driving past the club at the time the two-alarm call sounded. He rushed up the steps and hearing screams from the girls' dressing room smashed down the door and carried out Viola La Monte, 19, and Geraldine Hartley, 24, entertainers.

Miss Dickerson died in the line of duty, police reported. At the first cry of "fire," she hurried to her post at the check room and was attempting to pass out hats and coats to the patrons of the club when she was overcome by smoke and was trapped to death by the crowd of fleeing guests.

Most of the injured, police and hospital reported, were crushed in the flight of patrons down the narrow stairway from the second-story rendezvous.

Three firemen were overcome and required pulmotor treatment. Two were said to be in critical condition.

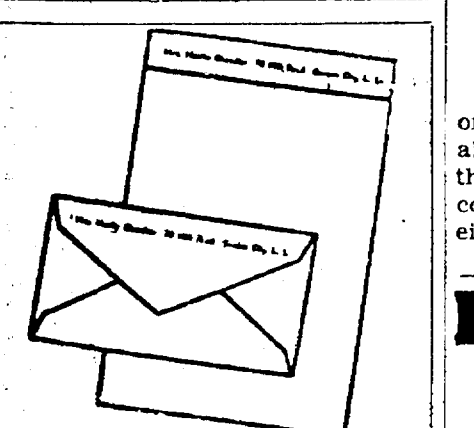

SENIOR 4-H MEMBERS ENJOY FINE MEETING

Fifty members of the Senior 4-H club enjoyed a meeting Monday night at Pickaway-two school.

Miss Edna Callahan of Ohio State university's extension service, spoke on "Being Well Groomed." The next meeting will be held at Jackson school, June 8. Miss Callahan will speak on another phase of clothing at the June meeting.

Mrs. Ross Hamilton, club leader, conducted several songs and games and Pickaway-two members served refreshments at tables arranged to form an "H."

Doggone It Anyhow. What Kind of a Bird is It?

KING, a police dog in Chicago, has a new friend—a bird. But the trouble is no one seems to know what kind of a bird it is. Even the ornithologists admit they're stumped.

Perhaps these few facts may enlighten you. The bird has a long beak, very long toes, virtually no tail, is gray-brown in color and shows a decided tendency to eat apples. Now guess what it is!

YOUTHS NAMED TO HIGH POST IN O. S. U. CORPS

Two Circleville youths, students at Ohio State university, have been appointed corporals in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps.

Otis Mader is a corporal in the field artillery and Jacob Towers has the same position in the infantry.

Among the students in the college of agriculture who made the honor roll during the last quarter were Arthur J. Graham, Orient, Louis Cryder and Mary Dunlap, both of Kingston.

Three Pickaway-co students, members of the Women's Glee club took part in the annual spring concert presented recently in the chapel. They were: Elizabeth Reber, Ashville, Margery Blosser, Circleville, and Chestora Douditz, Orient.

J. L. Dunn, Amanda, has returned from a week's inspection trip for students of chemical engineering. The students visited plants in Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan.

"Our country, richly endowed in body, mind and spirit, still has need of many things," says the President. One, we assume, is a really decent Spring, while another must be a five-cent cup of coffee.

BOXING AN ADVERSARY

"BOXING AN ADVERSARY" is putting him in a position from which he cannot escape leading to your advantage, because you have deprived him of his last card of safe exit. It differs from the "wood play" only in coming earlier in the hand. Like the majority of equestrian, most of the boxed situations are accidental, but today we have a case where a clever declarer boxed one of the defenders willfully.

With neither side vulnerable, bidding went: West, 1-Spade, second hand; North, 2-Hearts; East, 3-Clubs; South, 3-Spades, although West originally had bid that suit, perhaps South thought West had made a psychic call; not certain of how badly the spade call could have been defeated, West bid 4-No Trumps, but was not doubled. The opening lead was the Q of hearts. The K won. The Q of clubs took the second trick. North played the 5 and South the 2. From North's hesitation, West was certain that the former held the Ace of clubs. Certainly he held no fewer than 5 hearts. South's bid showed at least 6 spades, which would leave no exit card for North in that suit. If diamonds broke 3-3, possibly North could be boxed and forced to lead either hearts or clubs to declarer's advantage. The first thing was to try out the diamond distribution. Three rounds of diamonds were taken, leaving dummy in lead, with a long diamond left in declarer's hand. The only chance to lose game seemed to be in case North had originally held 6 hearts, with the guarded J of clubs held by South.

The K of clubs was led and lost to North's Ace. Declarer let go a spade. The J of hearts was led, South followed suit and declarer let the trick pass, giving him the A-8 tenace over North's 10-4. North took his good J of clubs. Declarer let go the 10 of spades. North studied the situation. To lead a club would certainly give dummy two tricks in that suit, allowing declarer to let go two more spades. Declarer surely held the Ace of hearts, but he might not hold the 3 also. Possibly South held that card, so that a lead of hearts might give declarer only a single trick in the suit. Having figured that out, North bid. Declarer then took his long diamond. He also took the Ace of spades, but he had to give South a single spade trick at the thirteenth trick, just giving declarer 3-odd, as bid.

ANOTHER SCHOOL YEAR

ANOTHER school year, interesting for many reasons, is rapidly nearing its close. Commencement exercises are starting this week with several hundred fine Pickaway-co boys and girls being ushered into the world to find their own way after at least a dozen years guidance by parents and teachers.

The 1935-1936 year has been a success. Teachers have worked diligently to make the regular programs and extra-curricular subjects interesting and educational for the pupils. Parent-Teachers' associations have been active, creating and maintaining closer feeling between the parent and the teacher and, in many cases, between the teacher and the pupil.

GENERAL HAGOOD'S PROMISE

ANNOUNCING his retirement from the Army, Major General Johnson Hagood says he has in preparation a book which will show how the United States "can get a very much better national defense at very much less cost to the taxpayer."

That, indeed, is welcome news. The episode growing out of the General's castigation of "WPA stage money" may prove to have been not wholly devoid of substantial benefits if it leads to early presentation of a practicable program of naval and military economy.

With the world in its present turbulent state, national defense is something that merits adequate attention. It would be a grave mistake for America to stand forth as a shining mark for some ambitious and ruthless dictatorship.

But, fiscal conditions being what they are, the country may well seek the most prudent plan of protection obtainable. And if General Hagood points the way, he will be making a timely and thoroughly meritorious contribution to the taxpaying public.

Princeton University has seen fit to honor him on the occasion of his birthday and if it were the custom of this prosaic land in which we live to adorn the brows of poets with laurel he would long ago have been chosen as one worthy of this honor.

Now science can tell by your eyes how long you will live. If they are slowing up, you can't see the truck in time to jump.

Mussolini wants everybody to accept the conquest of Ethiopia as a "accepted fact." He has already convinced the Ethiopians, of course.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

VANDENBERG DARK HORSE NO. 1

WASHINGTON—Senator Arthur Vandenberg insists that he is not a candidate for the Republican nomination. His close friends say his eyes are fixed on 1940. Friends who are not so close tell the story of Senator McNary of Oregon meeting Senator Jim Couzens of Michigan in the Republican cloak room last winter and remarking: "Jim, Vandenberg tells me he is not in the nomination race."

"I'mph," they say Couzens replied, "no one else does either."

But despite these denials and disparagements, Vandenberg is a very definite and important factor in the GOP scramble. He is Dark Horse Number One.

Should the onrushing Landon steamroller slip a cog in the home-stretch, should Borah and Knox roll enough rocks in its path, then the big pouter-pigeon-shaped editor from Michigan is the first on the list as compromise candidate.

PRO-NEW DEAL

The present role of ardent enemy of the Administration is a new one for Arthur. There was a day when he spoke sweetly and gently about Mr. Roosevelt and those around him. So much so, in fact, that GOP die-hards threw up their hands in disgust.

That was during the dark days of 1934, when Arthur was up for re-election, and when few could speak ill of the New Deal in Michigan and live politically to tell the story.

The campaign was one of the hottest in Michigan history, with the Senator conducting himself as more of a gentleman than most candidates have found advisable.

In the end, he squeaked through to victory chiefly because of Mr. Roosevelt—though Mr. Roosevelt certainly didn't mean to help him squeak.

What Roosevelt did was to renew the NRA automobile code just three days before election. One of the most reactionary of all Blue Eagle creations, its renewal aroused anti-New Deal bitterness among Michigan's great group of automobile workers.

In retaliation against Roosevelt, thousands of them stayed away from the polls. This saved Vandenberg.

On election morning he told friends that he was licked. That night, as he sat at home, gloom spread over the household. There was no doubt in their minds that the Senator was defeated. Then, at 10 p. m., the tide turned.

When the votes were counted, he had wriggled through by the skin of his teeth.

MIDDLE-OF-THE-ROAD

The middle-of-the-road game which the Senator is now playing is not a new one for him. Most of his senatorial career has been a fifty-fifty proposition.

SMITTEN

And no one knows this better than Vandenberg. Which explains why, despite his persistent denials, Arthur is displaying all the symptoms of that most contagious of all political diseases, Presidentitis.

World At A Glance

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

It will be interesting to note from time to time what, if any, progress the prohibitionists make with their effort to resuscitate their cause as a national issue.

Their first step is to try again to dry up the District of Columbia, as an example to the remainder of the country.

A bill to that effect, introduced by Representative U. S. Guyer of Kansas, already is pending in congress. It is more than unlikely to be voted on at this session. However, another one is sure to be offered by Guyer or someone else next winter.

BUTLER A CONVERT

In the meantime, under the name of the United Dry Forces, the prohibitionists are campaigning.

At their initial rally in Washington General Smedley D. Butler, retired from the marine corps, who, several years ago, as chief of police, made a sensational attempt to make prohibition stick in Philadelphia, was their key figure.

His subject was "The Booze Problem." On his Philadelphia assignment the general was not supposed to be personally particularistic for dry legislation; he was endeavoring to encourage as he found it. But he was as ardent a prohibitionist as ever was Wayne spoke, too, and there was a prayer by the Rev. Dr. James Shera Montgomery, chaplain of the house of representatives.

In short, the gathering had something of an official aspect.

GOOD PLACE TO BEGIN

Strategically speaking, Washington is a good city for the dries to start on.

It is conspicuous. As the dries say, it is a guinea pig for the whole country.

The sentiment of its inhabitants is overwhelmingly wet, but its citizenry is voteless. If the dries can scare congress, congress will not care a penny for the feelings of Washingtonians. True, many congressmen, who have to spend much of their time here, like their own drinks. But they know they can get them anyway, prohibition or no prohibition. So can anybody.

NOT "SMACKED DOWN"

It may seem as if the prohibitionists should have been fairly well smacked down by the 1932 election and what followed, but they do not see it that way.

The wets always contended that prohibition was put across in a national fit of war hysteria—everything potentially drinkable being needed; instead, to feed Uncle Sam's soldiers.

The dries' contention is that repeal was the child of depression hysteria—the theory being that liquor sales would create a lot of employment in the brewing and distilling industries, and also yield barrelsful of revenue, thereby heading off much other painful taxation.

Well, say the dries, unemployment has not been appreciably decreased—and look at the present tax bill!

A DRY HANDICAP

The dries face one grave handicap. By a vast majority senators and representatives always loathed prohibition.

Those from wet constituencies hated it, naturally. Those from unmistakably dry constituencies favored it, just as naturally.

But most legislators were from constituencies of which they were not sure. They simply despised the wet-and-dry issue, because they did not know which side of it to straddle on. It is a question that they distinctly do not want to have reopened.

When a dry bill is introduced in congress, in the regular routine it is referred to a committee.

That committee is quite aware that its job is to smother it. Prohibition never will get back into the constitution anyway.

THE CAMDEN RUBY MURDER

ADAM BLISS

COPYRIGHT—RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER 46

AT FIRST glance the likeness of Pietro to Manuel was little short of amazing. They were both the same height, the same build, and the contour of their faces was similar. But there the similarity ended. Whereas Manuel's eyes, his whole face was alert, alive, Pietro's was sleepy, indolent, careless, unintelligent.

What Manuel said about Pietro's speech, too, was correct. It was broken English he spoke, and I don't think he was putting it on. As it was very hard for Keyes to understand him, I acted as interpreter and spoke to Pietro in Spanish.

He had a long session with us. An uneasy one, too, not entirely due to the uncomfortable chair. When he was sent away, finally, in charge of two burly policemen, we were not much wiser. Either Pietro was normally, naturally an astute, clever liar, or he knew nothing about the Camden ruby. He stuck to his original story tenaciously. We could not sway him.

The ruby which he had brought to America smuggled in the lining of his derby hat—the hat he was so jealously wearing—said he had bought about a week before he sailed on the Garcia, a small steamer. An old man, seeing him flash a roll of bills Manuel had sent for his fare, had approached him in a wine shop with the stone. The man was a beggar in Madrid, Pietro, thinking he could make money on the jewel in America, paid the old beggar the equivalent of 100 American dollars for it. He was sure Manuel could help him sell it. This tremendous expenditure left him strapped in Madrid and as he did not have time to cable his brother for more money, he took a smaller boat than he had planned, the Garcia, and came to America. It was worth it. He now had a fortune. Originally he had planned to come on a big boat, second class, and enter America as a gentleman.

He never had been in America before, and had written to his brother for a year for passage money. Manuel was rich, had influential friends, a great power in this new country. He thought the jewel, on constant urging on my part, might possibly have been stolen. He didn't know. He had paid good money for it. In fact, he had bargained for it. Finally the beggar had let him have it. He had never had influential friends, a great power in this new country.

Spain, especially on the stage. In this new country he would do better. Manuel would help him. Get him started. Introduce him to the right people. No one on board the Garcia knew he had the jewel. Manuel was the first he told about it. From his beautiful about a jewel I judged he was even reluctant to tell his brother. Pietro was selfish if nothing else. He regretted that he had promised Manuel half the profits from the sale, but Manuel would undertake it for no less. After all, Manuel had contacts in this new country, and Pietro did not. He wanted money right away.

There were violent protests on his part, when he was led away by the officers. I was puzzled when I finally was alone. Either the man had stolen the ruby himself, or his story was true. We had no way of verifying his tale. Keyes cabled the Madrid police asking for Pietro's record and also for any information about the jewel. However, I saw that he expected little for his trouble. "The farther we go the deeper in we get," he admitted when the cable had been sent off. "The tangle, instead of unraveling, gets more complicated."

"I've a notion that it is getting near the end," I said. "Pietro and I are reasoning for killing. Manuel had—"

"So had Ward Van Every, so had Edith Bryce—"

I interrupted him before he could include me. "Why would Ward Van Every kill Margalo and Miss Randall?"

"Answer yourself. He was a killer once; now his mind probably is warped by his prison experience."

"Then you don't believe in prisons?"

"Of course I do, but some men react differently than others to prison. Ward may be one of them."

"I don't know," I said. "Ward may be one of them. Ward may be one of them. Ward may be one of them."

Joey. She was rearing, and apparently content. Allan Foster was coming up to her room to have dinner with her, and she had promised him faithfully to stay in the suite all evening. He was planning to tell her again on his way from—his engagement. I knew already he was having dinner with Mrs. Bryce.

When I asked him what precautions he had taken for his own safety, he said Captain Keyes had kindly loaned him one man. Two other detectives were to stay in his house all night, and with Soon there he would feel all right. If I had time, would I run in when I got back to the hotel and see Joyce? I promised. He said he hadn't explained to her the danger, and she hadn't asked, but for some reason she was very tractable and obedient. He was thankful for that. He thanked me profusely for what I had done and hung up the receiver.

The man who had been assigned by Keyes to shadow Mrs. Bryce followed the telephone call, and Keyes questioned him sharply. About 11 o'clock that morning Mrs. Bryce had gone away in a taxi to a beauty shop. He followed her there in another taxi. Watched her enter the shop, and had waited outside for one hour, then two, three for her to emerge. Finally, becoming impatient, he had gone in and inquired for her. He knew that women sometimes spent the entire afternoon in beauty shops, so he wasn't suspicious for three hours. It seemed that Mrs. Bryce had no appointment in the shop, in fact had never been there at all. She wasn't known there. Soon after he found another door to the place leading into a hotel lobby. What Mrs. Bryce had done was to walk into the shop from the street, and out again through the hotel lobby, through the lobby onto Broadway.

He had completely lost her, and thought it best to go back to her house and wait there until she came back. When he got there, she was just alighting from a car.

"That's the way," he moaned, when he dismissed the plainclothes officer. "That's always the way. The stupidity of him, never looking to see if there were two doors out of the shop for three hours! And we might have solved all this today! Of course he thought that every moment she would come out! But for three hours! To wait there! Do nothing!"

"Are you going to call Mrs. Bryce in to see if she was there? I'm now. It was too late. The harm was done."

"Van Every going there for dinner, you say?"

"Yes."

His fingers tapped the desk sharply, and reached for the phone. I forestalled him. "Don't call her now. Let him have dinner with her. Later, maybe."

"She may kill him tonight."

"I don't think so—tonight. That is if she's the fiend. What use would there be doing away with him before she does her deed? You must remember that everything he has is left to Joyce. Edith Bryce would not profit, unless Joyce—died first. I hated to say this, but I must. I hated even to think it."

"You're right—if she's doing all this for money."

"Either money or jealousy, Keyes. The only motives I can find if Edith Bryce is the person you want."

"Damn it, how do you account for Margalo Younger then?"

"I threw down my hands in despair. 'I don't know. I wish to heaven I did.'"

Poems That Live

THE FLAG GOES BY
Hats off!
Along the street there comes
A blare of bugles, a ruffle of drums,
A flash of color beneath the sky:
Hats off!
The flag is passing by!

Blue and crimson and while it shines,
Over the steel-tipped ordered lines.
Hats off!
The colors before us fly;
But more than the flag is passing by:
Sea fights and land fights, grim and great,
Fought to make and to save the state.

Weary marches and sinking ships;
Cheers of victory on dying lips;
Days of plenty and years of peace;
March of a strong land's swift increase;
Equal justice, right and law,
Stately honor and revered awe;

Sign of a nation, great and strong
To ward her people from foreign wrong;
Pride and glory and home—all
Live in the colors to stand or fall.
Hats off!
Along the street there

City's Teachers Enjoy Annual Banquet Tuesday

Miss Rader in Charge of Arrangements at Coffee Shop

Each day adds another party to the many social events planned for the close of the school year. On Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock the teachers of the city schools enjoyed their annual banquet at the American Hotel coffee shop. The appointments were in pink and blue. The tables were attractively laid for the dinner having in the center large bowls of sweet-peas with lighted candles up and down the long tables. The small tables were centered with blue candles. Tiny turtles made of walnut shells were used as favors. The guests numbered 46. Bridge followed the dinner with prize for high score for the ladies going to Miss Peggy Parks. She was also winner of the traveling prize. The men's prize was awarded Robert Jewett. At the close of the entertainment beautiful gifts were presented to the newly-weds and brides-to-be including Mrs. Gene Burton, Mrs. Ralph Ward, Alton Day and Miss Marian Hittler. The success of the banquet was due in great part to Miss Gene Rader who was chairman of arrangements.

Mrs. Wallace is Hostess
Mrs. Ralph Wallace, E. Union-st., delightfully entertained members of her bridge club at her home Tuesday evening. Additional guests were Mrs. Byron Eby and Mrs. Mark Armstrong. The evening was spent in contract with high score prize awarded Miss Esther Riegel. A delicious salad course was served at the close of the evening. As an added diversion the guests enjoyed several musical numbers by Mrs. James Adams and Mrs. Ernest Weiler.

Lacy Gloves Are A Joy To Crochet

Household Arts by Alice Brooks

You'll Love Them in Color.

PATTERN 5571

The well-gloved woman is proud to "show her hand" when gloves are as lacy and lustrous as these. Crocheted so easily and quickly, you may have a different colored pair for each Summer costume. The hands are in simple mesh, the novel cuffs formed of lacy rounds, their centers pointed up by tiny Irish crochet roses. They're smart in crochet cotton!

In pattern 5571 you will find complete instructions for making the gloves shown in a small, medium and large size (all given in one pattern); illustrations of the gloves and of all stitches needed; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Herald Household Arts Dept., 210 N. Court-st., Circleville, O. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS and PATTERN NUMBER.

When these patterns are ordered through The Herald they are subject to one cent sales tax. When ordered direct from the distributor no sales tax is collected.

re-elected as president, Mrs. Loring Davis, secretary, Mrs. Sims, treasurer, Mrs. Frank Hawkes, chorister, Mrs. Ray Johnson, pianist.

Interacting contests, introduced by Mrs. Frank Hawkes, were won by Mrs. Martha Radcliff, Mrs. Thelma Jones and Mrs. L. C. Dancy.

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Stanley Goodman and Mrs. Arthur Ankrum to 25 members and visitors.

Mrs. James E. Fry of Matoate, W. Va., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Fry and family in Stoutsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Franklin, of New York city will arrive Friday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Fry and family of Stoutsville.

Mrs. Charles G. Shulze, S. Court-st., left today for Detroit on a short business trip. While there she will visit her sister, Mrs. Louis Mendelssohn. She expects to return Friday.

Remember When?

Walnut-st hill was removed.

Walnut-st hill was one of the largest hills in the south end of Circleville and it was removed in 1891 and 1892.

Mrs. C. E. Sears, a large property owner in that district, supplied teams for the work and the city furnished men. The top of the hill was located about the center of Washington-st. Earth removed from the hill was used to fill low sections in the district.

Work was under the direction of Amos Wilson, then city street commissioner, and still connected with the service department. Mr. Wilson plotted the addition.

The old market place stood on W. Main-st.

Residents in the seventies and over will remember the old market place that occupied the space on W. Main-st. between Fickard's drug store and the Kroger grocery.

The market building was in the center of the block with ample space surrounding for hitching horses and parking wagons and carriages. Locust trees bordered the west side of the lot.

The town pump was located in front of this market place.

RALPH MAY, JOHN KELLER PICKED
FOR COUNTY BOARD RACE; GRINER
WINS IN ENGINEER'S CONTEST

Griner will not have to make a fight in November.

The official count will be necessary to determine the winner of the corner's tilt. Dr. Bowers, incumbent, topped Dr. Montgomery by three votes in the unofficial reports. The board was checking the poll books Wednesday to try to definitely determine the victor.

Davey Lead 2-1

Governor Davey was supported better than 2 to 1 over Stephen Young, foe for nomination, while the race of Charles "Timeclock" Hubbell was negligible, 156 votes being cast for him. Davey's total was 2417 and Young's 1008. Davey did not lose a precinct.

The administration of President Roosevelt was endorsed by Pickaway counties by 10 to 1 over Col. Henry Breckinridge, New Deal foe, who entered the Democratic primary. The president's Pickaway-co vote amounted to 3229 and Breckinridge's was 299.

Immell ran a noble race in Pickaway-co, receiving 1265 votes against 811 for H. C. Claypool of Chillicothe, his nearest foe. Dr. J. M. Lantz of Lancaster, believed the nomination winner, gathered only 379 votes in this county, while Harry B. Welch of Rockbridge tallied 483. Barton Holl of Logan received 200, D. F. Trew of Perry-co added 93, and Israel Blauser of Fairfield-co was able to obtain only 73. Blauser went without a single vote in 14 of Pickaway-co's 40 precincts.

County Republicans were divided in their decisions concerning the nomination for congress, but gave Tom White, defeated by Renick Dunlap two years ago, most of their votes, 446, against 428 for L. P. Mooney. Dean Hickson, third candidate, received only 203 counters in Pickaway.

Peter Hammond of Lancaster was ahead of Karl Kummer of Baltimore, Fairfield-co, in Pickaway-co balloting for the Democratic nomination for the short term in congress, made possible by Congressman Mell G. Underwood's promotion to a federal judgeship. Hammond received 1197 votes in the county and Kummer had 937. John Moriarty, Chillicothe Republican, running for the short term had a complimentary vote of 799.

Soviet Uncovers Mammals

MOSCOW.—Reports have been received that bones of mammoths, in particular giant mammoths (the intermediary form between the rhinoceros and the horse), which lived 15 to 17 million years ago, have been discovered in the Gokhnaya Steppe west of the lake Balkhash in Kazakhstan.

No Wasted Heat
WITH A HIGH-POWER PERFECTION RANGE

High-Power burners respond instantly when lighted, go out at once when turned off

If you have been worrying along with a poky old stove, get one of these good-looking new High-Power Perfection oil stoves.

High-Power burners are ready to cook as soon as you light them. They can be regulated for any cooking heat you want, and the flame remains where you set it. The fire goes out the instant you turn it off, saving fuel because oil is used only for cooking.

The new High-Power Perfections are finished in porcelain enamel, lacquer and japan in dainty cream-white with black. Some are ranges with built-in ovens—other stoves for use with portable Perfection ovens. We have sizes to suit every kitchen, and prices are reasonable. Easy terms may be arranged.
